

Hospital and healthcare professionals understand the bottom line of business and career success:

It's all about networking.

Vickie Austin is a woman on a mission with a message to share with healthcare professionals. Her many years in healthcare and hospital marketing, coaching and consulting have taught her one thing: when it comes to success, relationships are everything. Vickie provides quality, content-rich presentations that inspire, motivate and empower. She designs and delivers customized, high-energy presentations that help people reach their potential. Whether you're a healthcare association leader looking for someone to motivate your chapter members or a hospital or healthcare leader eager to inspire your troops, Vickie can help you ignite your next conference, convention, leadership retreat or chapter meeting.

Her most-requested topic:

“Circles of Gold®: Networking For Business and Career Success”

For many people, the word “networking” conjures up images of forced conversations, dreary conferences or cold calls. So we avoid it—to our peril. But networking is one of the most critical skills we must develop, especially for professionals in the healthcare industry. This presentation provides practical ideas to leverage relationships while honoring the people we already know. Using stories and excerpts from her book Circles of Gold: Honoring Your Network for Business and Career Success, Vickie provides simple, actionable strategies for networking in a way that can be easy, fun and highly effective.

About Vickie:

Vickie Austin has been helping people through career transitions since 1997 when she founded CHOICES Worldwide. Beginning as a healthcare reporter, she worked in marketing communications for American Medical International (AMI), Humana, Edelman, Modern Healthcare magazine (Crain Communications Inc) and Marianjoy Rehabilitation Hospital, where she was vice president of marketing before launching her coaching and consulting practice full-time. Devoted to making a difference in the workplace, Vickie speaks, coaches, consults and writes about business and career success. Her mission: To create a world where people love what they do and do what they love.

Vickie is a member of the National Speakers Association (NSA) and the 2016-2017 president of the NSA-Illinois chapter. She is also a columnist for the First Illinois chapter of the Healthcare Financial Management Association (HFMA) and she speaks and writes for HFMA chapters throughout the country.

A magna cum laude graduate of Arizona State University, Vickie attended Thunderbird School of Global Management in Glendale, AZ, where she earned an executive master's degree in international management (EMIM). She and her husband Bill, an artist, play music, enjoy art and love to travel. They live in the Chicago suburbs with their dog Peanut Butter and are the proud parents of two grown children, Kitty and Will.
